Picture of the Day

Find when the world first saw it.

Taped to Francis's desk are four printed photographs, each with the date torn off. On the back of the stack, in his handwriting: "the worlds I was watching — in the order the sky showed them to me."

Every one of these images was once NASA's Astronomy Picture of the Day (APOD). Find the exact day each was featured. Then the note tells you what to do with those four dates.
